Old Business

- Employee Training – Amanda has received the information from THECB that needs to be shared with all employees in regards to the new state mandates. She is working with Safe Colleges to use that system to integrate the required information with the existing information within their system. She noted that this includes faculty working with dual credit, even if they are not being paid directly by the college since this group is working with our students.
- Legislation Updates
 - # Title IX information for first time transfer students – New state regulations require that specific Title IX information go out both first time in college students and first time transfer students for each semester. The first time in college students receive the information as part of the NSO which is required. For the first time transfer students, the information will be sent out through Safe Colleges which has been set up and will be going out to all first time transfer students. There will be a new reason code for the C03 holds (prevents enrollment) for those that do not complete the training before the beginning of the next registration period.
 - # Trauma Informed Care Training for Security – We have the information ready and will be setting up training to all of our security personnel. The new state law requires certified peace officers to have this training. While our security are not certified peace officers, we are going to provide the training. K-leigh shared that she is working with them on similar information specifically for working with students on the spectrum. In doing so, they are working with Houston PD and LaPorte PD who may have more information to share.

- # Confidential Employee Designations – As previously discussed, we have identified three individuals who will serve as confidential employees. The law is clear that all employees are mandatory reporters and these individuals will be included in publications to give students and staff an option to speak to someone in confidence. The three identified individuals are Kassandra Flores, Rhonda Drew, and Tyrone Smith. Their names have been added to information given out at the NSO, the Safe Colleges training for first time transfer, the website, and other areas. They will be documenting (without identifying information), how often they are contacted through a shared spreadsheet.
- Events (Fall 2019)
 - # Rosemary reported that the Campus SaVE Advisory Committee with the support of the Bridge was represented at the Fall Festival. We had a display honoring those killed by intimate partners. We also solicited the help of the art students with sidewalk chalk art in support of Domestic Violence Awareness Month.

New Business

- Changes in Title IX Processes – Amanda reported that we have been approved to utilize investigators in our Title IX process. The three investigators include Tymme McCallister, Dr. Marissa Moreno, and Zane Mosely. Rosemary and Amanda continue as the Title IX Co-Coordiators. The investigators completed Level I training through ATIXA in January and will be attending the Level II training in March. Rosemary and Amanda mentioned that we have the support of the president in moving forward with this new process and investing in the training for the team.
